

Introducing Anne Davies, Ph.D.

Author, consultant, and researcher, Anne Davies, Ph.D., applies her expert knowledge of developing quality classroom assessment practices toward her mission to "increase the possibility of learning for all our students." Among the many books and resources Anne has authored and co-authored is the best-seller, Making Classroom Assessment Work, as well as the Leaders' Series: Leading the Way to Assessment for Learning, and Transforming Schools and Systems Using Assessment. She has recently published Collecting Evidence and Portfolios: Engaging Students in Pedagogical Documentation, the fourth book in the popular Knowing What Counts series, with Sandra Herbst and Brenda Augusta (2017).

With more than 30 years' experience in education, Anne has worked in many countries including Norway, New Zealand, Singapore, and the United States, as well as here at home in Canada. She has demonstrated her skills in a variety of roles, including principal, keynote speaker, researcher, and consultant.

As you work with Anne today, you will appreciate the depth of her experience and her practical ideas for supporting our work on behalf of learners. Please join me in welcoming her now!
