

Developing Engaged & Expert Learners

Join us to learn about powerful, professional teaching practices that energize learning

This year we are offering the best online learning opportunities EVER! Anne Davies and Sandra Herbst, working with a professional videographer, have produced three high quality, focused, and engaging sessions for you and your colleagues. In each online conference, you will learn from grade-level relevant examples, student-tested ideas, and classroom footage. There are also opportunities for you to reflect and plan to apply the ideas in your setting.

Topic 1 Engaging Learners in Co-Constructing Criteria for Success What counts? Students often ask us what counts. Learn about a process of co-constructing criteria that leads to increased learning and engagement. Video examples of classrooms in action will be used to illustrate key ideas.	Topic 2 Inquiry, Engagement, and Success: Goal Setting that Energizes Learning Building on co-constructing criteria and strategies for engaging students in self- and peer assessment, this session will focus on goal setting that really works with learners in all classrooms and, in particular, in inquiry-based classrooms.	Topic 3 Reaching Student Success and Engagement through Powerful Feedback Research says the best feedback is specific and descriptive but how can a busy teacher provide enough? Learn ways to give feedback without marks or grades while still providing the kind of information students (and their parents) need.

Change happens when you see the next step. Choose one, two, or all three of these topics.
